ABOUT

Matterport is a technology company, based out of Sunnyvale California, that uses its 3D software to stitch 360-degree photos together to create a new experience for digital marketing. Their proprietary camera and software captures 10 million points per second and then produces 3D-dollhouse renderings, floor plans, and an immersive tour that can be viewed normally or in virtual reality across any device.

Every 3DVermont Showcase is a completely immersive 3D representation of a space. The “dollhouse view” provides a total understanding of how a property fits together, while the “inside view” lets anyone navigate a 3D space.

According to Matterport’s CEO, Bill Brown, the company’s mission is “to give people the freedom to experience any place at any time... establishing 3D and VR models as a primary medium for experiencing, sharing and re-imagining the world.”

TESTIMONIALS

"Matterport customers report they receive 95% more calls and 65% more email about properties featured online with a Matterport 3D tour"

- REA Group Australia

"Thanks to Matterport, I just sold an $8M home for full price in cash. The buyer never set foot in the home, but after seeing the Matterport 3D tour, he felt like he had been through the home every step of the way and he was ready to go!"

- Amanda Todd, Matterport Keller Williams Realty, Inc.

"When real estate agents and home owners are looking for an edge in marketing their homes, condos, offices, yachts and anything else for that matter, they turn to Matterport."

- Forbes

"Matterport tours allow potential buyers to experience an open house from their living room, without having to remove their shoes! The quality is stunning. As a builder, I will be able to walk buyers through a tour of a home that may not even be built yet. It's absolutely amazing."

- Peter Sheppard, Sheppard Custom Homes - Essex, VT

"Mike approached me not too long ago about this new Matterport 3D technology that he had been working on...I had a listing that has been sitting for awhile without any activity. It's a beautiful property though somewhat unique in its interior design. I felt that if I were to try something like the Matterport tour, this would be the property."

Within 7 days of uploading the tour to the MLS and promoting it on my Facebook page, I received 4 new private property showings. We have not had a showing in over a month prior to this. I have to say, both my sellers and I are extremely satisfied with the results and feedback so far. The program is very user friendly. The feedback from those that have seen it online was all positive and excited. I will certainly be using this service again."

- Mike Burak, KW Vermont Realtor
